The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4, 6-8, 10-18, 34-39 and 64-132 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jennings WO 94/17794.

Jennings WO '794 teaches ~~Creative~~^{creative} compounds of the type recited in compositions. See, for example, page 1 lines 6+. Patentees do not teach using the ~~creative~~ compounds in conjunction with an ATP enhancing agent. However such agents, such as Riluzole, Permax, Sinmet etc., are well-known ATP enhancing agents and are also well-known for use in treating, for example, Alzheimer's disease. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify a treatment involving the use of Jennings WO '794 to include other well-known agents for treating the same condition as the results, a cumulative effect, would not have been unexpected.

The specification on page one line 18 should be updated to include the US provisional application Serial Number.

No claim is allowed.
